STANDARD OIL CORNERED.
Jefferson City, Missouri, Feb. 26.—The Supreme Court has decided that witnesses must answer questions in the oil trust cases, consequently Rogers will be forced to furnish information concerning the operations of Standard Oil in this State.

Proceedings were instituted in Missouri shortly after the Kansas cases were brought forward and growing out of them, charging the Standard Oil Company with various illegal practices in the conduct of its business with the railways in that state. The charge was made that relatives had been granted by the roads, in violation of the state law and in restraint of competition.

Henry H. Rogers, vice president of the Standard Oil Company and Rockefeller's chief lieutenant, was called as a witness, and an effort was made to catch Rockefeller himself with a subpoena, but he fled into hiding.
